About Cochlear™ Graeme Clark Scholarship

The Graeme Clark Scholarship, awarded by Cochlear, helps implant users achieve more by supporting them financially when they continue to advance their education.

The Graeme Clark Scholarship is a unique award open to recipients of Cochlear™ hearing solutions. Awarded by Cochlear, this scholarship has been set up to help individuals further themselves by undertaking university studies. A committee of three professionals will select the winner on the basis of the application documents submitted. The scholarship is worth € 5 000 paid directly to the winner in two instalments.

- 9 Proof of change of name, if appropriate (e.g. photocopy of marriage certificate or deed).

Professor Graeme Clark

Professor Graeme Clark was the Professor of the Department of Otolaryngology at the University of Melbourne. It was the pioneering work of his University Department that led to the first multichannel research implant 'bionic ear' being 'switched on' in 1978 and the first Nucleus Implant in 1982.

His lifelong commitment to finding a solution for the hearing impaired has resulted in a revolution not only for those with a severe to profound hearing loss but also their family and friends.
